Year of Communion Rublev's icon of the Holy Trinity is a vivid portrayal of what it means to be in relationship. What is striking about the icon is this sense of unity, intimacy and mutual love. The dynamic of communion between the three flows from the icon as they gaze upon each other. No social distancing here! For weeks now our communities have been unable to gather physically. Being in isolation has been a strange and unusual experience. For some it has been a welcome time of reflection and creativity. For others it has been a time of trying to balance work with home schooling and for others coping with not being able to see those they love. Whatever our personal circumstances there have been highs and there have been lows. Yet in the mix of all this there has also been a genuine appreciation of our growing in communion with one another, albeit virtually, and of growing relationships as we reach out to those we know and, in particular, those we have never even met before. We cannot truly be in communion with Christ if we are not in communion with one another. Today's feast of the greatest 'communion' of all time – the Holy Trinity – is an opportunity for us to reflect and perhaps give thanks for each other.

Little Sisters of the Poor You may have heard an interview on Radio Bristol with Mother Katherine from St Joseph's Home in Cotham. Along with many others, they are struggling with the demands of the current situation, having to access additional equipment and staff without the ability to go out into the community with their appeals. If you'd like to help them financially there is an online donation facility here <https://www.littlesistersofthepoor.co.uk/donate-here/>

SCHOOL GOVERNORS: Could you serve as a school governor? Foundation governors have an important part to play in ensuring the Catholic character of our schools and in building the community of Catholic schools throughout the diocese. Without them our schools are in jeopardy of losing their distinctiveness which will have a significant impact on the future lives of our children. St George's Primary is seeking new Governors. If interested please contact Father Martin

Opening of Church: When we get the go ahead to open our churches it will be for private prayer only. The celebration of Mass and the other Sacraments will come at a later date. One of the challenges when the churches reopen is to observe the social distancing. Volunteers will need to be in the church at all times to ensure that anyone coming into the church sanitises their hands both going in and going out of the building. It is recommended that people wipe the area in which they have been praying with an antiviral/antibacterial wipe as they leave. Each day when the church is closed, the building will have to be cleaned. Door handles should be cleaned regularly during the day when the church is open.
